¡La Roca Golf Benefit a Success!

Our partnership with Trinity Investment and Mick Marks has been a real blessing. They have sponsored a golf tournament for the last two years. This year they rented a nationally known golf course for the day to support the work at La Roca. All 144 available golfing spots were sold as the Lord again blessed this event.

These funds are particularly needed at present because, as you can see in the photo below, the school year has started. A population explosion in student enrollment caught us by surprise! Instead of the usual 100 children enrolled in La Roca's school, 150 kids showed up. We are trying to get together the funds to build at least another two or three classrooms to ease the crowding. We plan to have a team start building on Oct 16. If anyone else wants to help, another team is slotted to finish up the project in November.

La Roca also needs to build some apartments for the abandoned mothers and their children so the families can better heal and grow. Some apartments were made this last year. With help from the Lord and his people, we hope to soon construct this additional building.

“Team Tijuana” Conference:

Leaders of the ministries unite as a team with the help of the Latin America Mission

The four ministry leaders along with Lee Nascimento and me (photographer) met with Miguel Angel DeMarco from LAM to talk about Team Tijuana and plan new strategies to serve the needy and share the good news of Jesus in Tijuana.

At a 2-day retreat near the ocean, which included the wives, these hard-working servants of the Lord got a chance to get away from the constant everyday ministry to rest and refocus. Pray for continued unity and organization to better network and get the Lord's work done.

KATHY'S CORNER: OOPS! I PRAYED AMISS

God didn't answer my original prayer! At least not how I expected. As I called up the pastors' wives to remind them of our retreat, I learned that one of them had a conflicting doctor's appointment. We all prayed that she could get it changed so she wouldn't miss any of our precious time together. But Tuesday morning Lydia (her husband Javier Marquez heads up the Esperanza drug rehab program) had to miss breakfast and the morning session. When she took off, my new prayer was that God would set up divine appointments for her that day.

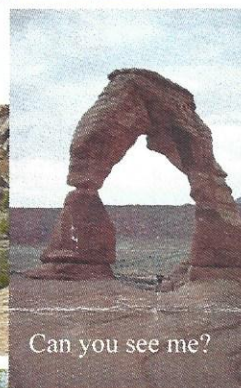

Lydia returned with sparkling eyes and smiles. While waiting in the doctor's office, she'd had the privilege of sharing Jesus with a 12-year-old boy awaiting a kidney transplant. Both he and his mom accepted the Lord. As we at the retreat discussed the work to be done, Lydia was actually doing it! I'm glad God's answer to my first prayer was "No"—He had something much better in mind.

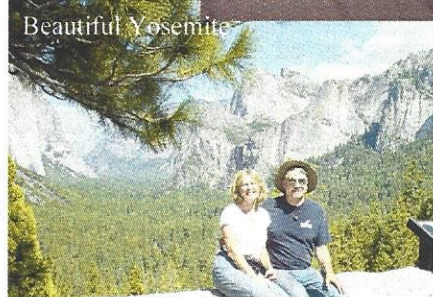

Lydia and her unusual day.

FAMILY UPDATE: ADVENTURES WITH TEENS

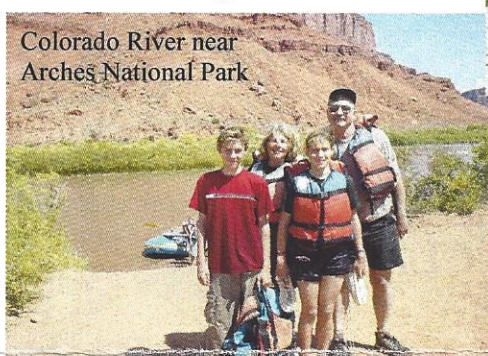

Summer brought good family times. Ian (15) flew to Indianapolis to live with Greg's sister's family and work his first job ever—controlling corn pollination. He earned good money, had great times with relatives and came home more mature. Meanwhile, Anna (13) kept Greg and me company on a trip up the Pacific coast to visit supporters and get in on my Taiwan class reunion. In August we drove to Colorado Springs where Ian returned to join us in a belated celebration of my Grandmother Dennis' 100th birthday. Good family times with my sister Sandy's family and my parents were followed by camping and hiking in Arches and Yosemite National Parks. Major family accomplishments: kayaking on the Colorado River and reading David Copperfield aloud.

Join us in Praise & Prayer

- Rejoice with Lydia for Victor Hugo's new faith. Pray he and his mom will grow in grace.
- Praise God for the wonderful team we work with, both in Tijuana & the U.S.
- Pray for funds and teams to build the new dorm for women at the Home for the Elderly.
- Thank God with us for new co-workers, Lee & Linda Nascimento. Pray for Lee's health.
- Pray the horrible road to La Roca gets paved soon.

We'd love to hear from you!
